FEUD OF THE WEEK

PRISCILLA TO BAM: YOU'RE A LIAR!

All shook up! In a bizarre turn of events, Bam Margera posted a surprising selfie on Instagram on Feb. 8 with none other than Priscilla Presley. Things got even weirder when the Jackass star, 43, later claimed that during his visit, she gifted him with a ring and a robe — featuring a fuzzy hood with ears — that he said was from Elvis' wardrobe. "When I was asked by my son [Navarone Garibaldi] to have a 'new friend' come over for a visit, I had no idea who he was or that later he would choose to post photos and false stories," slammed Priscilla, 77. "At no time during the visit did I give him anything of Elvis'. I would never disrespect Elvis, who was the love of my life, by giving away anything that belonged to him." The troubled skateboarder quickly apologized for filming in her home without her consent — "I'm very sorry and embarrassed," he admitted — but she's made it clear he won't be invited back!

DEMI'S TEARS Over Bruce

Demi Moore has given an update on Bruce Willis' condition — and the news isn't good. He's suffering from frontotemporal dementia (known as FTD), which "is a cruel disease," says the actress, who was married to Bruce from 1987 to 2000, had three daughters with him and has remained close with him ever since. "There are no treatments for it." Demi, 60, also alludes to her ex-husband, 67, not being able to communicate anymore. "Unfortunately, challenges with communication are just one symptom of the disease Bruce faces," she says. "Bruce always believed in using his voice in the world to help others, and to raise awareness about important issues both publicly and privately. We know in our hearts that — if he could today — he would want to respond by bringing global attention and a connectedness with those who are also dealing with this debilitating disease and how it impacts so many individuals and their families." Bruce's loved ones are devastated. "Demi, Bruce's wife [Emma Heming] and all of the kids are heartbroken," says a source. "Demi has her moments when she breaks down. It's affecting everyone differently. A bright spot right now is Rumer's pregnancy. The birth of his first granddaughter will hopefully put a smile on Bruce's face."

GUESS WHO?!

This celebrity couple with kids – they've been married for over four years – are hiding a dark secret: his violent temper. The 30-something star hit his younger wife in front of multiple witnesses, and the buzz in Hollywood is that there's no way they're going to make it to their five-year anniversary.

KELLIE'S MARRIAGE ENDS IN TRAGEDY

On Feb. 17, the Nashville Police Department confirmed that Kyle Jacobs – the husband of American Idol alum Kellie Pickler – was found dead at the couple's home of an apparent suicide at age 49. Kellie, 36, told authorities she woke up but couldn't find Kyle. She and her personal assistant called the police after they couldn't open the door to a room in the house; inside, Kyle was dead from a self-inflicted gunshot wound. "Kellie's world has been shattered," says a family insider. "She and Kyle were together for over a decade. They shared a life full of love and laughter and music." After initially planning a large Nashville wedding, the pair decided at the last minute to jet off to Antigua for a low-key ceremony on New Year's Day in 2011. "It was perfect, because we didn't plan anything," Pickler told In Touch the following month. "I packed the wedding dress, and he packed an outfit. It was the most incredible day of my life."

GABBY PETITO MURDER BOMBSHELL

"Burn after reading." That's what Brian Laundrie's mother, Roberta Laundrie, allegedly wrote on the envelope of a letter she sent her son, who murdered his girlfriend, Gabby Petito, in 2021. An attorney representing Gabby's parents – who are suing Brian's parents for emotional distress – claims he saw the letter at an FBI regional office, that it was recovered from Brian's backpack when his body was found and that Roberta offered to "help bury a body." A defense attorney for Brian's parents argue the letter is irrelevant to the lawsuit and has no connection to Gabby's death. Gabby's remains were found at Wyoming's Bridger-Teton National Forest; her death was ruled a homicide by manual strangulation. Before taking his own life, Brian wrote in a notebook that he was responsible for Gabby's death, according to the FBI. "Gabby's parents just want closure and justice," a source tells In Touch. "This has been a nightmare for them."

A Father's SHOCKING CHOICE

King Charles III tries to mend the rift with Prince Harry, but creates a new one with Prince William in the process

It's the question royal courtiers and the public have been asking for months: When King Charles III is formally crowned as Britain's sovereign on May 6, will his estranged son, Prince Harry, and the Duke of Sussex's wife, Meghan Markle, be within the hallowed halls of Westminster Abbey to witness the historic coronation? In an interview with ITV host Tom Bradby that aired on Jan. 8, Harry — who was promoting his bombshell-filled memoir, Spare, at the time — was noncommittal. "There's a lot that can happen between now and then," Harry teased, "but the door is always open. The ball is in their court."

Now, with barely two months to go, the new king has made a decision. In Touch has learned that Charles — despite being hurt by the criticism and revelations Harry laid bare in Spare — is extending an olive branch to his younger son during the symbolic celebration of his new reign, much to elder son and heir Prince William's dismay. "There are going to be fireworks at King Charles' coronation all right. He not only has he decided to invite Harry, but he's pushing William to the side," spills a palace insider. "Harry and Meghan will have a major role in the ceremony at Westminster Abbey." On top of that, Charles — whom Harry has accused of being tight with his fortune — has decided to bestow a huge gift to the Sussexes. "It may come as a shock to some, but Charles has his reasons for wanting to rebuild the bridges Harry burned. The king is choosing Harry over William for a reason."

OUT OF THE SHADOWS

It's been nearly three years since Harry stepped back as a working royal and moved to America. This makes his presence at his father's coronation unprecedented. "At first, it was believed Harry wouldn't wear a coronet and robe," as other senior royals and peers of the realm have done, explains the insider, "but now he may." It was also believed only William, as direct heir, will pay homage to the 74-year-old king by touching his crown and kissing Charles' right cheek, "but Charles could decide to have Harry do the same," adds the insider. "Some view all of this as a slap in the face

ARCHRIVALS

Meghan's appearance at Charles' coronation will be seen as yet another way "Meghan is stealing Kate's thunder," says the insider.

CORONATION COUNTDOWN!

Everything You Need to Know

SACRED ROBES

As dictated by the 14th century manuscript Liber Regalis (Latin for "Royal Book"), Charles is expected to wear a series of garments crafted from gold silk, silver thread, delicate lace and ermine fur.

THE CROWNS

The solid-gold St. Edward's Crown, which has been used for more than 350 years, will be placed upon Charles' head. Camilla will use Queen Mary's Crown, which is being embellished with three extra diamonds that belonged Queen Elizabeth II.

LASER SHOW

On May 7, music stars will perform in a special Coronation Concert to be broadcast live from Windsor Castle, and iconic locations across the U.K. will be lit up using projections, lasers, drone displays and illuminations.

OFFICIAL LOGO

KING CHARLES III CORONATION • 6TH MAY 2023

Apple's former chief design officer, Jony Ive, created the official coronation emblem, which pays tribute to Charles' love of the natural world. It features England's rose, Scotland's thistle, Wales' daffodil and Northern Ireland's shamrock in the shape of St. Edward's Crown.

to William."

That's not all. Harry, 38, and Meghan, 41, "may even get front-row seats," just as close to the action as William, 40, and wife Kate Middleton, 41. "There are rules and strict traditions in place, but both are made to be broken," notes the insider. After all, though Buckingham Palace confirmed that Charles' coronation ceremony will be "rooted in long standing traditions and pageantry," palace aides months ago revealed that it will be far shorter, less grand, more diverse and feature a smaller guest list than the late queen's coronation in 1953.

FAMILY FALLOUT

Charles' decision has left family members stunned. "William is flabbergasted," says the insider. "So he's made a deal with the devil — Camilla!" He wants his father's former mistress turned queen consort, 75, "to talk some sense into Charles," explains the insider. That comes with a price. "William knows that by asking her to do this, he will owe her one day. That day could come tomorrow or five years down the road. Camilla never forgets and will always cash in on a favor, especially one from William."

Harry has already warned the world about Camilla. Writing in Spare about her 2005 marriage to Charles, he admitted he "had complex feelings about gaining a step-parent" who, he believed, had not only broken up his own parents' marriage but traded information about him for more favorable coverage in the U.K. He admitted he actually wanted Camilla to be happy in her second marriage because that way "maybe she'd be less dangerous." He also accused Camilla and Charles of leaking a story that claimed Meghan made Kate cry over a bridesmaid dress fitting, when, he and Meghan have insisted, the opposite happened. "Everyone knows Camilla stabbed Harry and Meghan in the back — Harry wrote about it in Spare — so she's not above questionable behavior," says the insider. "She likes to stir the pot, too. Seems she's been doing so since the beginning of time."

William is hardly alone in his unhappiness. "Kate is also livid. Meghan is getting her way. She and Harry have won another battle," says the insider. "Kate has even threatened to not attend the coronation, although everyone knows she's just bluffing. She'll be there looking great and smiling ear to ear. That's the best revenge she could get on Meghan, actually — looking better and having all the press afterward be about her, not Meghan."

ROYAL MANIPULATION

There's another bitter pill William and Kate have to swallow. "Charles has decided to gift Harry and Meghan a $12 million apartment at Kensington Palace too!" says the insider. So why is Charles going out of his way to appease Harry? Even with the king's reputation for being cold, the insider says Charles feels guilty and partly responsible for Harry's pain growing up without his mother, Princess Diana. "Despite everything that's happened, Charles loves Harry and wants him in his life — even if it's just for a few weeks or months during the year."

Of course, Charles has an ulterior motive, as well. "He knows hundreds of pages from Spare were cut and that Harry could cash in with another book," says the insider. "If Charles doesn't play ball, Harry can do even more damage to the royal family and the monarchy with a second book. As the saying goes, keep your friends close but your enemies closer. It's all very twisted — and par for the course for the royal family."

THE PROCESSION

Charles and Camilla are expected to travel to London's Westminster Abbey in the king's procession and return to Buckingham Palace in a larger coronation procession, likely inside the horse-drawn Gold State Coach, joined by family members, including Harry.

THE QUEEN'S PRESENCE

The new king will also wear a second crown – the Imperial State Crown – and hold the orb and sceptre that were all last seen resting atop Queen Elizabeth II's coffin during her September 2022 state funeral and burial.

THE CORONATION CHAIR

Monarchs sit in King Edward's Chair, which has been used in coronations for more than 700 years. It features original pieces of gilt decoration set into the oak as well as graffiti that schoolboys carved into it in the 18th and 19th centuries.

FLASHBACK

Elizabeth II was crowned queen on June 2, 1953, in the first British coronation to be fully televised.

STAR POWER
"He's absolutely living his best life," a source says of Tom, beaming on the red carpet at the Oscar Nominees Luncheon in LA on Feb. 13, where the other stars showered him with praise.

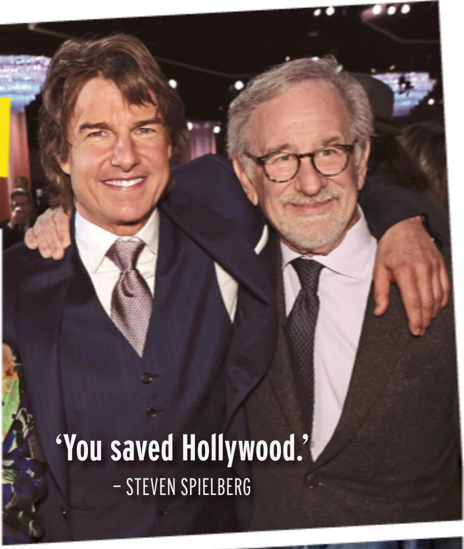
'I love you, I love you, oh my God!'
– Ke Huy Quan



'You saved Hollywood.'
– STEVEN SPIELBERG

'He's gracious and beautiful.'
– Angela Bassett

Tom Cruise was mobbed. "The ballroom turned into a massive meet-and-greet," the New York Times said of the Oscar Nominees Luncheon at the Beverly Hilton on Feb. 13. First-time nominees and A-listers alike lined up for selfies and hugs with the superstar, including his War of the Worlds director, Steven Spielberg. "You saved Hollywood's ass," the three-time Academy Award winner gushed, adding that Tom's $1 billion hit, Top Gun: Maverick, "might have saved the entire theatrical industry."

No question, Tom is back on top. "He's enjoying his first Oscar nomination in more than 20 years for producing a blockbuster, and with his appearance at the luncheon, everyone's been talking about how he's one of the last great movie stars," a source says of the actor, who spends most of his time in England and hasn't attended the Academy Awards since 2012. "He hadn't even been on a red carpet in eight months, but Tom is basking in the spotlight in the industry he adores!"

MOVIES ARE HIS LIFE

While his personal life has been the subject of scorn and speculation, Tom's work has always spoken for itself. Thanks to his efforts as a producer, Mission Impossible: Dead Reckoning Part One (premiering this July) was one of the first major Hollywood movies to resume production after being shut down by the pandemic in July 2020. Tom's angry tirade against crew members who were disregarding safety rules went viral that December. "They're back there in Hollywood making movies right now because of us.... That's what I sleep with every night — the future of this f---ing industry!" he yelled. The rant "earned him a lot of respect, because it shows his commitment to his peers all the way down the line," says the source, noting that actors including George Clooney and Whoopi Goldberg voiced their support. "He was literally fighting to save hundreds of people's jobs."

He also fought to make sure that Top Gun: Maverick made it to the big screen. When it was suggested that the movie, which was set to be released in 2020, debut on a streaming service, the 60-year-old insisted, "That's not going to happen. Ever.... I make movies for the big screen." Held for release until last May, Maverick ushered in a return to moviegoing and earned Tom the best box office returns of his career.

As well as a Best Picture Oscar nomination. "Tom's work ethic is unmatched, and his dedication to this business is finally paying off," says the source. "It means so much for him to get the recognition he deserves in Hollywood. He says it's good to be back." ■

MAMA'S BOY "She was incredibly supportive," Pedro says of his late mom (in white, with his dad and siblings).

FATHER FIGURE Pedro plays Bella Ramsey's dad on The Last of Us.

Pedro Pascal's UNTOLD STORY

How the star of HBO's hit The Last of Us overcame unimaginable tragedy

LOVING FAMILY

He got choked up talking about it. "I was born in Chile, and nine months later my parents fled Pinochet and brought me and my sister to the U.S.," an emotional Pedro Pascal said in his Saturday Night Live monologue on Feb. 4. "They were so brave, and without them I wouldn't be standing here."

He's come a long way. "Pedro hasn't always had it easy," a source says of the actor, who rose to fame with his breakthrough role as the vengeful, passionate Red Viper on Game of Thrones in 2014. He's currently starring on the HBO hit The Last of Us, as well as Disney+'s The Mandalorian. "His story is full of twists and turns, but it's made him a stronger person. He's incredibly grateful to those who've supported him along the way."

SHOCKING PAST

Especially his family. After escaping Chile, his parents, Verónica Pascal and Jose Balmaceda, a prominent fertility doctor, settled with their kids in Texas. When Pedro was 11, the family moved to Orange County, Calif. "There were two really rough years — a lot of bullying," recalls Pedro, who found solace in movies. By 1993, he was studying acting in NYC.

Two years later, his life changed again dramatically. Jose was accused of ethical violations, including transplanting eggs without patients' consent. He abruptly moved back to Chile with Victoria and Pedro's younger siblings. (Pedro has defended his father. In 2022, Jose, who's denied any medical wrongdoing, pleaded guilty to tax fraud.) But the scandal took a toll. In 1999, Verónica died by suicide. "[She] had a personality disorder that really flourished and ended with this tragedy," Jose said.

After Verónica's death, Pedro took her last name. "She would be so proud of him," says the source. "He's such a nice guy — no one is more deserving of success." ■

DRINK MIX

> "As an entrepreneur, I had to figure out strategies that worked for me and my never-sit-still hair-and-makeup artist lifestyle. That's when Hydroxycut Drink Mix came into play."

In some ways, Allison was like many other fortysomethings. Busy, successful in her career and, overall, everything felt pretty right. Except one thing: physically, she felt as if she was wearing someone else's "body suit." "I had recently turned 46 and all I truly wanted was that jolt of confidence that being physically in shape gave me. I wanted my groove back." So, Allison decided it was time to take the first step. She started walking more and shopping the periphery of the supermarket, filling up her basket with more vegetables and cutting back on sugar. And when she found Hydroxycut Drink Mix, that's when it all really started to stick. "I started this journey determined that I was going to make it work for the long haul. As an entrepreneur, I had to figure out strategies that worked for me and my never-sit-still hair-and-makeup artist lifestyle. That's when Hydroxycut Drink Mix came into play. I could throw it in my bag, and it was like having my added edge to ignite my journey. Plus, it doesn't hurt that the Wildberry flavor is delicious and might be my favorite." Twenty-two pounds later, Allison seems to have figured it out. With no magic pill, just the right strategies and tools in place, Allison made it work.

BETTER WITH HYDROXYCUT

Hydroxycut Drink Mix is the perfect weight-loss supplement for an on-the-go lifestyle. This zero-sugar, zero-calorie, weight-loss ingredient drink mix provides clean sourced energy in a convenient and delicious Wildberry flavor. Formulated with a scientifically researched key weight-loss ingredient to help produce significant weight loss results. $18.99; www.hydroxycut.com

[1] Allison used the key ingredient in Hydroxycut (C. canephora robusta) with diet and exercise and was remunerated. Average weight loss in 60 days with the key ingredient was 10.95 lbs. with a low-calorie diet, and 3.7 lbs. in a separate 8-week study with a calorie-reduced diet and moderate exercise.

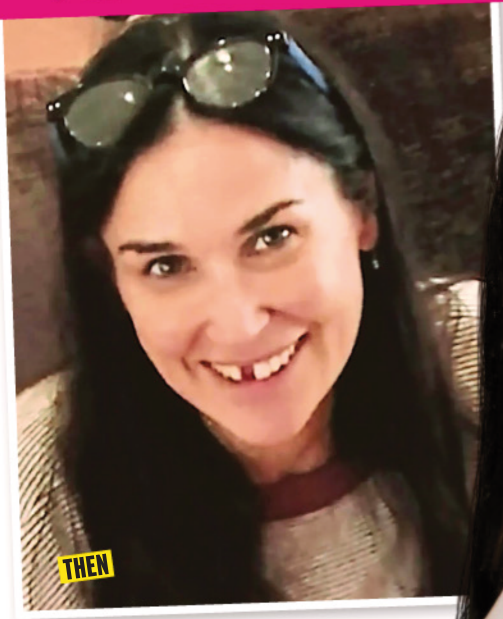
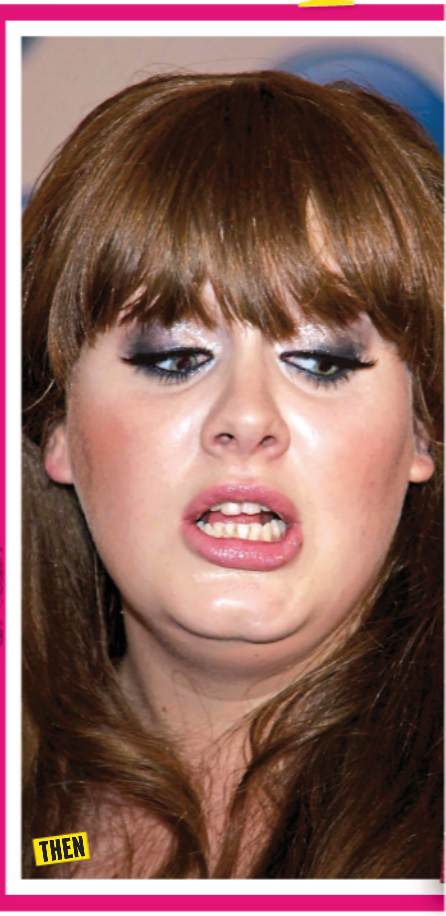
HOLLYWOOD TEETH

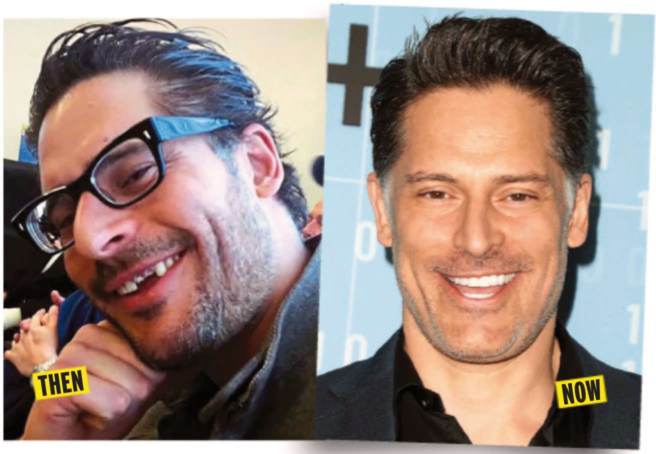
Stars Spruce Up



DEMI MOORE

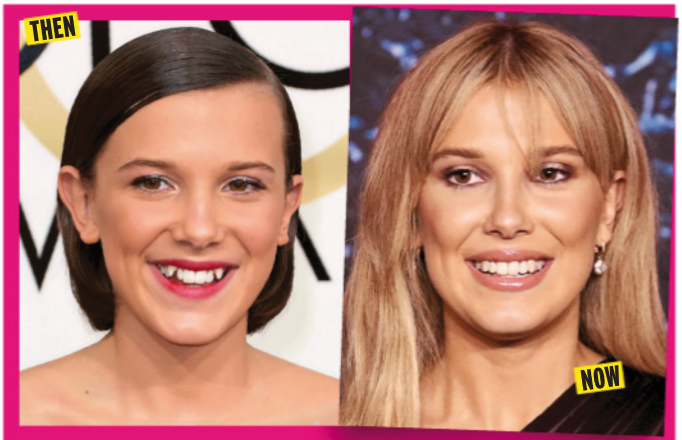
In 2017, the 60-year-old actress revealed she lost her front tooth due to...stress! "It was almost like it fell out and my warranty was up," she recalled. "Thank God for modern dentistry."





JOE MANGANIELLO

The 46-year-old actor's mouth has been through the wringer! When he was a kid, he lost a few teeth due to a run-in with a baseball bat (ouch!). Then in college, he shares, "I got my front teeth pulled out for stage roles."



MILLIE BOBBY BROWN

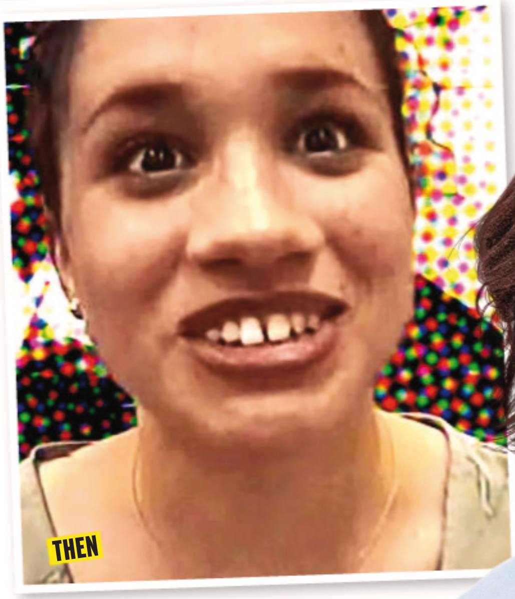
The Stranger Things star, 19, most likely had great orthodontics work plus cosmetic crowns, according to experts. The actress first showed off her new smile on the red carpet at the Season 3 premiere of her Netflix series in LA in 2019.

Their Smiles

Those pearly whites weren't always so bright – or straight!

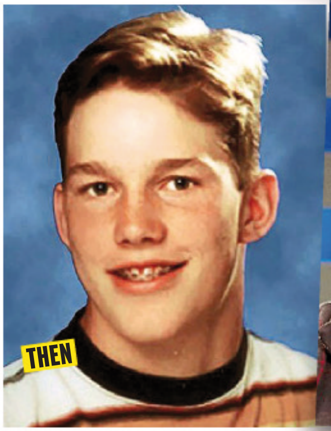
ADELE

Rumor has it the singer, 34, had her teeth whitened and straightened when she was 21. (She's never commented on her choppers.) "Between losing all the weight and her teeth," says a source, "Adele has completely transformed herself."



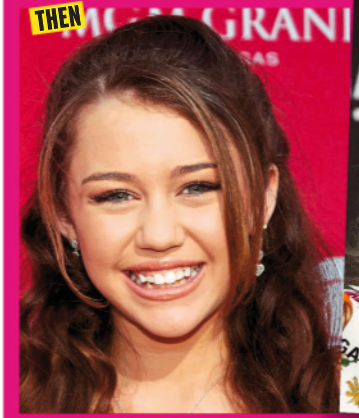
MEGHAN MARKLE

Experts believe the Duchess of Sussex's perfect megawatt smile is the result of braces, cosmetic contouring and teeth whitening – better known as a full-mouth restoration. The 41-year-old former actress has never commented on having any cosmetic procedures done.



CHRIS PRATT

"Nobody frigging believes me that I was born with a full head of teeth," Chris, 43, once quipped. Experts say it appears the Guardians of the Galaxy actor achieved his movie-star smile with the help of braces and possibly some cosmetic crowns.



MILEY CYRUS

In 2009, the "When I Look At You" singer, 30, insisted, "I like these [teeth] crooked. I love my teeth." Apparently she didn't love them enough – because she ended up revamping her smile by, experts believe, getting crowns on her natural teeth.

REAL HOUSE DOGS!

IN TOUCH with ... JAS LEVERETTE

Celebrity Dog Trainer Tells All

Stars Are a Lot Like Their Pets!

The star of Netflix's Canine Intervention dishes on his A-list clients – and getting their four-legged friends to obey orders

As a longtime dog trainer to the stars, Canine Intervention*'s Jas Leverette has worked with everyone from Kevin Hart to Steph Curry to Demi Moore. And he can't help but see some similarities between his A-list clientele and their pups. "I definitely think owners are drawn to dogs that are more like them," says the 39-year-old dad of two. (He and wife Nouhaila share Jasir, 3, and Nailah, 1.) Here, the owner of Cali K9 talks to* In Touch*'s Fortune Benatar about his foolproof training methods, his dream client and Hollywood's most pampered pooches.*

What do you like about working with stars?

JL: They are special people for a reason. So my favorite part is being able to connect with people on that high frequency. And some of the lifestyle things are cool, like getting to travel to different places.

What's the hardest part?

JL: It's hard to get celebrities to dial in, because they're really busy. Most stars have trouble because they don't have a lot of time and they have other people taking care of their animals, but they still have to be the dog's pack leader. It's not just the dogs who have to do the work, it's the owners, too.

Which celebrities have you enjoyed working with the most?

JL: I helped train Kevin's Dobermans,

ELLEN'S A FAN!

HE MOTIVATED DEMI'S PUP!

PET PROJECT

"I've always been an animal person," says the owner of Cali K9 training who's developing a new show to help curb dog euthanization.

Rosco and Roxy, and we had a lot of fun. Steph is so down-to-earth and such a family man. Working with LeBron James' daughter, Zhuri, who is a young version of this phenomenal person, was really cool, too. And Demi. She's accomplished so much.

Any major challenges with their pets?
JL: People have the impression that goldendoodles are just fluffy, cute dogs, but Steph's dog, Rookie, has some characteristics that a pit bull would get in trouble for, like going after animals. Demi's dog was super resistant to walk anywhere — she was so sassy and so stubborn. We started following her and crowding, and her attitude of not walking turned around real quick!

You made an appearance on Real Housewives of Miami with your client Larsa Pippen. What was that like?
DL: Larsa is a pleasure to work with. We used the Halo Collar on her dogs. The GPS allows you to find them if they ever get lost, and the activity tracker tracks how much they walk. You're also able to communicate with the dog through an app. There's a lot of cool technology associated with it.

Who would you most like to work with?
JL: Barack Obama.

Explain your "box" method.
JL: I bring a small wooden pallet to a session and ask the dog to sit or stand, which teaches them focus and stillness. We cover a five-pillar system of obedience, socialization, agility, behavior modification and problem-solving techniques.

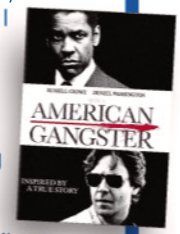
What are some other training tips?
JL: Establish some structure in your home and be in a training regimen. Understand your dog's temperament so you know what you need to watch out for. Train. Train with distractions and not just in the house. A lot of people have this misconception that their dog is trained, but when they go out in public, they don't have any control! ■

ON A LIGHTER NOTE...

Jas answers some burning questions!

WHAT EMOJI DO YOU USE MOST OFTEN?
I love the rocket ship. There's something about blasting off at a high rate and speed.

FAVORITE MOVIE?
I'm really a documentary kind of person, but I liked the movie American Gangster. I liked seeing Denzel's German shepherd – it was such a big part of him.



WHAT IS YOUR GUILTY PLEASURE?
Sitting around the house just doing nothing with my kids.

WHAT IS A RECENT SPLURGE PURCHASE YOU MADE FOR YOURSELF?
I bought some land in North Africa. I plan on building a pretty elaborate villa and creating some income properties. My wife is from there, so we picked up some land out there.

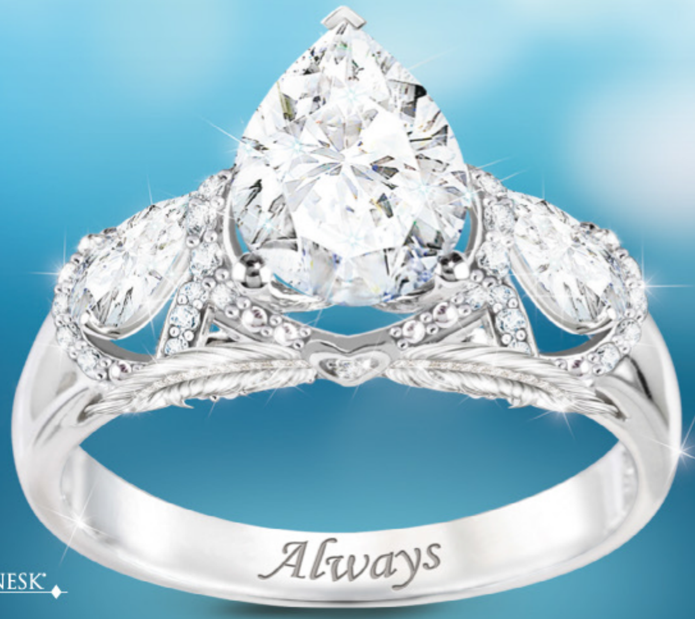
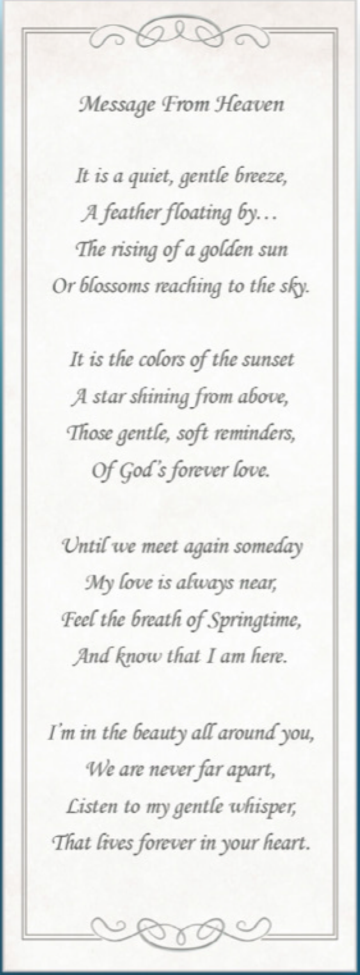
A Gentle Whisper Lives Forever in Your Heart



DIAMONESK



Message From Heaven

It is a quiet, gentle breeze,
A feather floating by…
The rising of a golden sun
Or blossoms reaching to the sky.

It is the colors of the sunset
A star shining from above,
Those gentle, soft reminders,
Of God's forever love.

Until we meet again someday
My love is always near,
Feel the breath of Springtime,
And know that I am here.

I'm in the beauty all around you,
We are never far apart,
Listen to my gentle whisper,
That lives forever in your heart.

Swirls of sparkle are an ode to art and nature!

Starting in the 1890s, whiplashes were the graceful, swirling lines that became the hallmark of art nouveau. From paintings to stair railings to brooches, these ornamental S-curves were used to evoke movement in stylized depictions of nature's creations — flowers, trees, insects, even a woman's flowing hair. The motif's ubiquity was short-lived; with the start of World War I, sleek industrial lines began to edge out the flowers and their whiplashes. But during its brief reign, art nouveau marked a triumphant departure from stuffy convention in the art world, and its influence continues to echo in jewelry design to this day.

We're paying tribute to an art movement defined by motion with the Dancing Iris Collection, a necklace, ring and earring set inspired by nature. Showcasing nearly 7 total carats of the Ultimate Diamond Alternative®, Diamond*Aura*®, in yellow gold-finished settings, each piece features glistening purple teardrops intertwined with swirls of white stones and graceful golden whiplashes. Subtle in its abstract design, yet teeming with sparkle and movement, the Dancing Iris is a contemporary take on a century-old celebration of natural, feminine beauty. Gift it to the muse in your life, and you're sure to whip up an art craze of your own.
